How She Discovered CCT:

Lisa had taken a couple of years away from the workforce to take care of her mother's affairs and was looking for some interesting volunteer opportunities. A former colleague who was a Wharton MBA shared an email she received regarding CCT and Lisa followed up. She completed an application, "...and never looked back."

Describe Your CCT Experience:

Lisa has had very positive experiences with all of her projects. In particular, she refers to, "...great clients, wonderful team members and co-PMs, and really interesting and varied projects." Lisa also adds that she has, "...made good friends and learned about a number of nonprofits I never would have known about." When asked what is unique about the value she derives from her work with CCT, she responds, "Besides the obvious opportunity to provide real service to deserving nonprofits, it is the opportunity to work with like minded, really smart and passionate people."

What You May Not Know About Lisa?

Lisa loves to run and is usually training for or thinking about training for a race.

We Rely on You!

Behind the scenes of CCT, a small group of highly committed volunteers works hard to achieve CCT's mission of amplifying the work of leading Boston area nonprofits. These volunteers are the driving force behind developing clients, building project teams and continually expanding and improving what we do.

As an all-volunteer organization, our budget is lean. Nevertheless, in 2017, CCT served 11 clients and supported 100 MBA consultants. 100% of our funding comes from our annual appeal.

The 2017 appeal begins next month. Our goal is to raise $24k - enough to cover all expenses for next year. Your gift, of any amount, empowers CCT to sustain and increase our highly-leveraged social impact.
